Why?

Climate change is already here. And so are its effects. It's time to turn all the knowledge and evidence we have acquired and compiled into action. We act, especially where we know we are most vulnerable, to ensure equity and resilience and to generate a greater impact on the territory.

We need to adapt to climate change and promote a profound transformation to become more resilient and reduce the vulnerability of the economic sectors that support the territories.

Where?

19 territories

How?

Through a policy-driven and action-oriented project. We act from the territory and for the territory: We CO-develop, CO-operate, and CO-adapt

Actions

We COConnect local government, the agriculture/livestock, forestry, tourism and fishing sectors to find solutions to the challenges of adapting to climate change.

Life eCOadapt50 focuses on CO-creating the definition and implementation of actions and promoting investment in climate change adaptation through the involvement of local governments, research centres and socioeconomic actors.

Beyond the project

Life eCOadapt50 is a transformative project with a vocation to establish itself in the territory, to expand and be replicable. We generate dynamics and participatory solutions beyond the project's defined timeframe and location.

Life eCOadapt50 represents an opportunity to expand adaptation to climate change through stable governing bodies and the mobilisation of >€73 M.
